

ATASCOSA COUNTY JUDGES REPORT

This week my office hosted the “Mayors’ Meeting.” This is something that the local mayors and I try to do on a regular basis. We typically take turns hosting and serve lunch from a local restaurant. Most of the time, the city secretaries and administrators will join.

During these meetings, we share what is going on in each others communities as well as collaborate on joint projects and potential projects. My vision for Atascosa County and the communities with it has always been that we would work as a team, be cohesive and connected. I think these “Mayors’ Meetings” have been instrumental to attain that goal. The mayors and city council members of each of our cities are doing a great job and are working to move each of their communities forward wisely, utilizing their resources and finances to do so. I truly believe that Atascosa County is moving forward by leaps and bounds. And it is my hope that as we each retire from our positions, the future generations of county judges and mayors will continue with this concerted meeting to keep the conversation and strengthen the community connections.

Thanks for listening. May God bless us all and continue to pray for rain!
